

Use an HSA to pay for hundreds of health and wellness essentials

A health savings account (HSA) can be used to pay for many covered health care services and products for yourself, your spouse and even tax dependents. It can also be used to pay for many other health care services and items that may not be covered by your health plan.

This is not a complete list

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) decides which expenses can be paid from an HSA and can change the list at any time.

HSAs can't be used to purchase the following health care services and items:

- Costs or expenses reimbursed from another source, such as health coverage or a flexible spending account
- Cosmetic surgery
- Diaper service
- Electrolysis or hair removal
- Health club dues
- Household help
- Maternity clothes
- Nutritional supplements, such as multi-vitamins, for general good health
- Personal use items, such as toothbrush, toothpaste, etc.
- Swimming lessons
- Teeth whitening

Know the penalty

If an HSA is used to pay for care or services that is not a “qualified medical expense,” you will have to pay a 20% penalty, plus taxes on the money spent. For example, if the expense was $100, the penalty would be another $20, plus taxes. This penalty does not apply if you are 65 or older.

Keep your receipts

Keep all records of your medical expenses in case of an IRS audit. That way, you can prove that your HSA was used for qualified expenses.
