

Rollover Guide

What is a rollover?

A rollover is the movement of your retirement account from one retirement plan to another.

What do you need to complete this form?

You will need the following two items:

- Rollover contribution check
- Distribution qualification documents

Incomplete forms and missing documents could result in a delay in processing your rollover.

If you have questions call the Retirement & Benefits Contact Center at 800.228.4015.

Account Type	Descriptions	Required Documentation
Qualified Retirement Plan – Pre-tax Dollars	Contributions are made before being taxed and you defer paying taxes until you withdraw from the account.	You'll need to provide a distribution statement from your prior plan. A distribution statement is included with most rollover checks or provide a copy of your closing statement showing the amount distributed, and that the distribution is an eligible rollover distribution.
403(a) or 403(b)	Retirement plan typically offered to employees of private non profits and certain government workers such as public school employees.
Traditional IRA	A Traditional IRA used specifically for retirement. Note: After-tax contributions to an IRA are not eligible to be rolled over.	Both the opening and closing IRA statements.
Simple IRA	Allows you to contribute to a traditional IRA through your employer. A rollover from a SIMPLE IRA is allowed if the amounts are rolled over after the individual has been in the SIMPLE IRA for at least two years.
SEP IRA	Allows business owners to contribute toward their employees' as well as their own retirement savings.
Designated Roth Account	A separate account within a qualified plan that holds designated after-tax contributions.	Documentation showing the year of the first Roth contribution, and a breakdown of all Roth contributions and earnings from the rollover amount.

Helpful Definitions
Direct Rollover:	The plan administrator makes the payment directly to your current plan . The administrator may issue your distribution in the form of a check made payable to your account directly to you. Taxes are not withheld from your transfer amount.
Indirect Rollover:	The plan administrator makes the payment directly to you and not to your current plan. You can deposit all or a portion of it in your plan account within 60 days. Taxes are withheld from your transfer amount.

Step 3: Investment direction

I understand that my rollover funds will be invested per my current investment choices. If I have not made any investment choices, my funds will be invested in the plan's default investment, as described in the Summary Plan Description. To choose your own investment direction, visit www.benefits.ml.com or call 800.228.4015.

Step 4: Certification and your signature (Please print the form and manually sign before returning to the address below)

This rollover consists of a distribution from an eligible retirement plan or from an IRA (other than an inherited IRA, if I am a non-spousal beneficiary). I'm entitled to this distribution as an employee or a spousal beneficiary.

The amount rolled over is not a distribution due to financial hardship, a required minimum payment made to me, one of a series of substantially equal payments payable over my life or life expectancy or the joint life expectancies of me and my designated beneficiary, or one of a series of installment payments over a period of ten years or more, or a return of any excess deferrals, excess contributions, excess aggregate contributions or excess annual additions with respect to an eligible employer's retirement plan.

If the funds were paid directly to me from an eligible retirement plan or IRA, the distribution was received not more than 60 days before the date of this rollover. If an exception to the 60-day rule applies and is permitted by my plan, I have attached a letter certifying that an exception applies. I further certify that I am making this contribution within 30 days of the date the reason(s) listed in the 60-day rollover waiver letter no longer prevent(s) me from making this contribution.

Unless allowed by my plan and indicated as part of the deposit, this rollover contribution does not include after-tax (non-Roth) contributions.

I understand that my rollover funds will be invested per my current investment choices . If I have not made any investment choices, my funds will be invested in the plan's default investment, as described in the Summary Plan Description.

I have read the Summary Plan Description and have been advised to consult a tax specialist about the eligibility of this rollover.
